THE SHERIDAN STORY

WHAT WAS THE LAST QUESTION YOU FACED ABOUT FOOD?

The last food question that many of us faced was what to have for breakfast from the abundance of options in the pantry.

The last question that more kids than we know faced was whether their families were going to have enough food for the long weekend, and how they could get as much extra school lunch as possible so they could bring some home.

That story is real, and it's the origin of The Sheridan Story, an organization we partner with to help fewer kids have to face this question. We work with Cedar Park, an elementary school just down the street, in two ways.

- 1. We help distribute meals, lovingly prepared and nutritionally balanced by dietitians with The Sheridan Story.
- 2. We help fund the cost of supporting meals at Cedar Park.
